THE ELECTION.

The Reform Ticket Carries the Day.

The election for four representatives for the district of Honolulu and nine Nobles for the island of Oahu was held yesterday. The town was a holiday aspect, the Government offices were closed and business generally was suspended. No island vessels left port. Every preparation had been made at the various polling places, and throughout the day good order was maintained. At some of the polling places speeches were made by the various candidates and others. There was a little drunkenness in town and a number of arrests were made. The police did efficient work and when there was any sign of a row they quickly put a stop to it. Pretty nearly all of the hacks in town were busily engaged throughout the day carrying voters to the polls. The greater number of them carried white flags, on which was printed in black letters "Reform," "The Regular Reform Ticket" and "Hoomaemae." The polls were open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 o'clock in the evening. At the latter hour the different polling places were crowded with people anxious to learn the result. As soon as the ballots were counted the result was sent to Mr. Jono. Austin, Chairman of Elections, whose headquarters were at the Pacific Hose Company's house, King street. Here a large crowd was assembled to hear the result.

At twenty minutes before 9 o'clock in the evening Mr. Fred Wundenberg mounted a chair in front of the engine house and announced the result of the election for Representatives for the district of Honolulu as follows:

Frank Hustace (elected) 2,198
J. I. Dowsett Jr. (elected) 2,190
A. P. Kalakoa (elected) 2,162

BILL NYE.

The "Bologna Retina"—Advice to His Son on How to Run a Newspaper.

MY DEAR SON—Your first letter written since you started your paper at New Colony was received yesterday. We felt glad to hear that you were located in a business for yourself, and it made me feel proud to get a copy of the paper which you call The Retina. I do not know why you call it The Retina. Still The Bologna Retina sounds kind of fulsome and didactic.

Retina, I always supposed, was kind of a medical term, and I would be just fool enough if I started a paper to call it The Retina or The Polypos at Work. It is wonderful how people run a new names these days, and a plain man with a common school education has to go groping along through the world the best he can. I presume that, with your thorough and florid education, such a word as Retina don't stump you for a minute, but with me it's different. I am a rough, hard working man and always been busy all my life. One of the neighbors asked me night before last why I hadn't joined the Knights of Labor, and I told him that I'd always been too busy.

It's a fact, too. I've always been so constantly employed that I couldn't belong to a labor organization and give it the attention it ought to have.

I like the tone of your editorial piece, on the inside of your paper, which is entitled, "Salutatory." I like it where it goes on to say as follows:

"We shall strive, in season and out of season, to advocate the resources and liabilities of New Colony as a health resort and county seat. Our voice will ever be heard in sunny tones, putting its shoulder to the wheel of progress and tramping on oppression with both feet."

"We shall send The Retina to every quarter of the globe, so that New Colony, with its wealth of picturesque valley, hill and dale, together with its new county house and health giving atmosphere, will be known of wherever the English language is spoke."

"It is true that the editor of this paper has just emerged from college, and is still young; but he has had some experience in writing for a college paper, and he knows what the needs and wants of the people are. He is aware that the class of readers who will peruse The Retina will not be so refined or cultivated, perhaps, as his college readers were; but he will try to make himself understood, and we think we will be successful."

"We shall constantly improve The Retina, as growing business and patronage may warrant, so that in a few years our readers will look back on this first copy with ill-concealed mirth. We are already figuring on a dark blue job press and a rubber door mat for the office, bearing the legend 'Welcome' in large gothic extended letters."

"We shall espouse the cause of no party or faction for the present, preferring to remain neutral for the time being, hoping on to the erroneous, ever and anon, however, as circumstances may arise which will seem to call on us for a word of reproof, admonition or encouragement. We shall not make any boasts or fill the air with bombast at this time, but when hydra-headed wrong emerges from its hole the casual observer will see us knock seventeen distinct varieties of tar out of said hydra-headed wrong, and those who carefully observe our course while conducting The Retina will notice that there are flies on it."

"We have quite a number of our best essays and orations prepared while we were attending school and college, which will appear from time to time in these columns. They are carefully and exhaustively written, and entirely cover the ground. Among these we may name the following titles:

"The American Indian—His Glorious Past and Opaque Future.
"The Care and Discipline of Children from an Unpartisan Standpoint.
"The Disagreeable Results of Crime—Necessity for Exorcising the Lascivious Habits of Children."

"Demonstrations as an Off-Hand Speaker.
"How to Reclaim Giddy Parents—Where is Your Parent To-Night?
"Criticism on the Present Imperfect Plan of Salvation."

"Duty of Wives—What Constitutes a Good Wife.
"George Washington and the Misery He Entailed Upon the Youth of America by Telling the Truth and Afterward Becoming the Father of His Country."

"All these essays are well written, and would be highly ornamental to any first class magazine in the land, but we are here to give satisfaction in our new field, and the best we have ever written is none too good for the people of New Colony. We aim to please."

"With regard to prohibition, we shall be outspoken at all times, and for our self we can use prohibition or we can let it alone. For the present we prefer to touch not, taste not, handle not the unclean thing. We favor a high license with low retail prices. This gradually busts up the dealer and finally wipes this curse from the face of the earth with the sweep of statutory wrath. Besoms of statutory wrath, carefully printed at this office on short notice."

"In closing we will state that The Retina starts out with a liberal patronage and has come to stay. We use this last term with the permission of the man who made it.
"We expect our new navy blue jobber in a few weeks, and little boys 4 in town who wish to see how a newspaper is made, and who would like to contribute a thumb or two out of their little collection, may come and monkey with the new press at any time. We will return their thumbs to them at the end of the week."

I like the tone of this piece as a general thing, though I am sorry to hear you allude to your liberal patronage and by the same mail get a request for more funds. I will send you what money I can spare, hoping that you will soon get on your feet again.
I suppose you will be running for congress the next thing, and then you will forget all about your old father, and borrow money of people who haven't felt near the interest in you that I have.

Send the paper for one year and charge me with the subscription price. You may also put a piece in your paper stating as follows:
FOR SALE.
Owing to ill health I will sell all my residence in town 24, range 18, west, according to government survey, one crushed raspberry colored corner, aged 6 years. She is a good milker, and is not afraid of the car or anything else. She is a cow of undaunted courage and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form she would be a great blessing. She is very much attached to her home at present, by means of a trace chain, but she will be sold to any one who will agree to treat her right. She is one-fourth shorthorn and three-fourths herey. Purchaser need not be identified. I will also throw in a double barrel shotgun which goes with her. I may she generally goes away somewhere for a week or two and returns with a tall red calf, with long, wiggly legs. Her name is Rose, and I would prefer to sell her to a non-resident.

You may keep the notice in your paper till you sell the cow. We are all pretty well, and hope your paper will be self-sustaining.
If I had four or five boys all engaged in running newspapers that had liberal patronage I don't believe I'd have money enough to pay my poll tax. But I must now close by saying so-long, as the feller says. Your father—Bill Nye in Chicago News.

BILL NYE ON HOTEL ROLLS.

A Warning Against the Macadamized Biscuit of Modern Civilization.

Gues's at remote American hotels, conducted on the You're-a-payin' plan, have no doubt noticed, after a few weeks at the house, a heavy feeling in the pit of the stomach. At first this is mistaken for mental gloom, but this is an erroneous diagnosis. It is gastric gorm. It is induced by the great hand-to-hand conflict between the bomb-proof biscuit of the hotel and eternal justice.

Eternal justice comes out on top, perhaps, but she is in poor shape to tackle the next one. These wads of gun cotton, plaster paris and alum are met with at the hotel where the crape is never taken off the door. Death and baking powder biscuits are synonymous terms. The old-fashioned poet used to picture death in the act of moving down his millions with a scythe and a wappy-jawed snath, but now the bard could not be more vigorous in his language than to say:

Death shied a hotel biscuit at him,
And he slept!

These macadamized rolls are made now with a flap on the top, I notice, similar to the flap on an old-fashioned pocketbook. The hunting-case biscuit is found to be superior to the old style, which could be opened with a nail. The present hotel roll—that is, the one we have in our mind—is made of condemned flour that has been refused on the Indian reservations and turned over to the war department. This flour, with amalgam filling and fireproof works, makes a roll that will resist the action of acids or the grand jury.

THE BISCUIT FOUNDRY.

A hotel man's life is not wholly destitute of joy and sunlight, after all. Hotel rolls, when properly fired, make a fine appearance as an ornamental corner on an iron fence. They have wonderful powers of endurance, also. People who have died suddenly from eating the hotel rolls have, in several instances, been cremated. When the ashes were carefully examined the roll was found to be intact.

I do not say that the right of way through perdition is not paved with good intentions, but I believe that many of our leading citizens will be disappointed when they get there to find the hotel roll on all the principal streets, rapidly resisting the wear and tear of a perditional world.

The roll is a mark of our modern civilization. It is carrying thousands down to the disagreeable realms of death. It is attractive in appearance, and when it beams upon us, we are sure to give it a try. But let us beware. No man should put a hotel biscuit in his mouth to steal away his brain.

If I had a son who wanted to become a hotel man, and eat these death balls, I would say to him: "Buy a hotel if you wish, and I will give him his name, I suppose to be Henry, and run it and make money, but have a home that you can go to for your meals. Do not eat your own biscuit."

I saw a negro a week ago, in a Chicago museum, eating lamp chimneys and glass paper wet with his hands. He seemed pretty fair and sane, but how he pined for his longevity. He said he did it by drawing the line at baking powder rolls—Bill Nye in Boston Globe.

A Way Candidates Have.

Arkansas candidate (to Knight of Labor)—The strikers are right. They have arisen to maintain a great principle, and I earnestly hope that they will succeed. I am with them, openly and above board.
K. of L.—I am glad you are with us and I don't think you will lose anything by it.
Candidate—Oh, I'm not thinking of any gain or loss. It is a matter of principle with me.

The candidate, a few moments afterwards, meeting a capitalist, says: "Well, I see that the strikers are raising old Nick. I am in favor of putting down such lawlessness. Those fellows seem to think that the possession of money deprives a man of all his rights as a citizen. I have told the strikers that even though my election depends upon them I must denounce their actions."

Capitalist—You shall not lose anything by your lawlessness.
Candidate—Oh, I had not thought of that. I do not stop, during a crisis of this kind, to consider gain or loss. I am a law and order man, myself.

Capitalist—I am glad to know it, but if I were you I would not be too free in the expression of my opinion.
Candidate—Oh, I know there's danger in it, but I cannot refrain from speaking my mind. I am a law and order man, myself—Arkansas Traveler.

Useful Hints.

When a sitting hen is too indisposed to stay on the nest continuously, let her rest alternate days and tie the rooster on the nest while she's resting.
The soot can be thoroughly swept out of a chimney by dropping a goose in it at the top. The geese, in vain striving to fly upward, thoroughly cleans the chimney with its wings.

By immersing the entire body in soft fat before taking a bee-tree, you can render yourself invulnerable to the assaults of the bees.

You can smoke a rabbit out of a hollow by smoking a cigarette close enough to let the smoke enter the hole.

The scent of whisky on the breath can be subdued by smearing asafetida on the mouth.

If you make a habit of keeping live mice in your pockets, your loose change will be comparatively safe from your enterprising wife.

If you take a small stepladder with you into the theatre it will be very serviceable when the stage is barricaded from view by a big hat.

Freckles can be removed from the face with sandpaper—Life.

"Out, Damned Spot!"

The best way to clean a chromo, Ethel, is to lay it to soak in turpentine overnight, and then hang it before an open fire to dry. Hang it close, Ethel, hang it close. Push one corner under the grate a couple of inches—Burdette, in Brooklyn Eagle.
